Seven Persons Killed in Train Wreck in Utah

FIVE PASSENGERS BELIEVED TO BE UNDER WRECKAGE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SALT LAKE CITY, May 2.—Seven persons—five passengers and two trainmen—were killed last night when Denver and Rio Grande passenger train No. 2 was wrecked near Woodside, Utah, according to a report received at the dispatcher's office of the railroad here today.

REPUTATION OF AMERICA IS AT STAKE

(BY EDWARD G. LOWRY)
BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]
ANGORA, April 31 (Delayed).—The Chester project, as the American railway concession is known throughout Anatolia, has a larger significance and importance than any other matter now pending in New East. The Turkish kitchen was weight and meaning to it than to the election, or even to peace settlement at Lausanne. Directly, and to a certain degree, the immediate political fortunes of the Kemal group are bound to that concession.

Street Car, Auto Collision Costs Victim An Eye

In a collision with an Edendale car at the intersection of Sixth and Los Angeles streets shortly after midnight last night, Arthur Hott, an official of the Pacific Soap Company, was seriously injured and his automobile destroyed. The removal of his left eye was found necessary by Dr. Duane, who treated his injuries at the Emergency Hospital. A possible skull fracture and several scalp lacerations also were treated.

TEN-MILLION-DOLLAR LIBEL SUIT DISMISSED

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
CHICAGO, May 2.—Corporation Counsel Busch today ordered dismissal of the suit brought against the Chicago Daily News for $10,000,000 libel by the administration of former Mayor William Hale Thompson in the name of the city. In a similar suit against the Chicago Tribune the State Supreme Court recently upheld the Circuit Court in its decision that the suit was groundless.

CLEVELAND RED CONVICTED

All-American Jury, Out Three Hours Fifty Minutes, Returns Verdict of Communistic Guilt

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
ST. JOSEPH (Mich.), May 2.—Three hours and fifty minutes after state prosecutors had told a Berrien county jury that it must convict Charles R. Ruthenberg to "preserve the safety of the greatest nation on God's green earth," the jury of eight farmers, one farmer-justice and the peace, two off-sallemen and one American Legion member returned a verdict of guilty of criminal syndicalism against the Cleveland Communist.

WOMAN FOR ACQUITTAL

Judge Charles White deferred sentence until June 4, pending appeal of the case. Under the Michigan law, the sentence may be for any term up to ten years, a $5000 fine or both.

THREE BALLOTS

The decision came on the third ballot. On the first two the ballot was nine to three for conviction. The three were satisfied that the Bridgeway had been overthrown by the government, and after two ballots, they listened for an hour to the nine who were convinced by the state and then cast their ballots for a verdict of acquittal.

REPARATIONS PLAN TERMED RIDICULOUS BY FRENCH OFFICIAL

(BY HENRY WALKER)
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]
[BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
PARIS, May 2.—The new German offer is unacceptable to France. Premier Poincare and a few leaders of the Cabinet this evening examined a translation of the note and unanimously agreed that it does not even constitute a basis for discussion. The Premier will probably confer with the Belgians, and perhaps with the British, Italians and Japanese, and then reply to Chancellor Cuno, rejecting the offer.

GOVERNOR'S LAST WORD ON BUDGET

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SACRAMENTO, May 2.—Gov. Richardson late today indicated he would pare off Assembly increases from the budget bill and make it conform to his original recommendations calling for a total figure of less than $80,000,000. The budget bill approved $90,000,000. The Assembly increases aggregated $1,170,049 and swelled the budget total to practically $81,000,000. The Governor in a statement declared:

LAUSANNE, May 2.—A single shot fired across the Syrian frontier will knock the Near East peace conference higher than a kite. The Turkish government's reply to Gen. Pella's ultimatum to Ismet Pasha to withdraw troops concentrated on the Syrian frontier has been an increase of the Turkish troops from 20,000 to 30,000. A written copy of the ultimatum sent through Constantinople was not answered.

DRIVE HARD BARGAIN

The Turkish intention to drive a hard bargain with the French at Lausanne, which Ismet Pasha frankly admitted to Gen. Pella in the purpose of the concentration, has entirely failed. Ismet insisted today at a meeting of the financial committee Turkey would pay foreign bondholders of Turkey money in French paper money, but Gen. Pella refused even to discuss the point.

Rabbi's Slayer Returns

PHOENIX, May 2.—Gladwell G. Richardson, confessed slayer of Rabbi Alfred G. Lafay, left here tonight for San Francisco in custody of Detective Sergeant George McLoughlin of the San Francisco police force.

Mojaev Block Burned

MOJAVE, May 2.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an entire business block in forty-five minutes here tonight. The buildings burned down included the postoffice, a rooming-house and two stores. The total damage was estimated at $100,000 and was divided among twelve establishments. C. L. Donnell, general merchant, was believed the heaviest loser. Damage to his store and stock was placed at $25,000.

Man Seized as He Threatens Rockefeller

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, May 2.—Seized as he stood in front of the residence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in West Fifth-fourth street shaking his fist and shouting threats at the multi-millionaire and his assembled neighbors, a man who said he was George Mural gave police and detectives a stiff battle today before he was overpowered and hustled off to Bellevue Hospital.

NAVAL PACTS ENDANGERED BY SEA LORD

(BY ROBERT BARRY)
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]
[BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
WASHINGTON, May 2.—The "Rule Britannia" speech by the Lord of the British Admiralty in the House of Commons last night was interpreted in Washington today to mean clearly that the spirit of the Washington naval limitation treaties does not abide any more at Whitehall than in the American naval establishment.

RUSSIA FEARS COLLAPSE IF PREMIER DIES

(BY PERCY NOEL)
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]
[BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
BERLIN, May 2.—What will happen when Lenin dies? That is the great question agitating Russia today.

FEAR OF PEASANTRY

Dead since early in March, so far as his participation in the dictatorship is concerned, their hope now is to keep him alive in the peasants' minds. Heterogeneous of fact that he has been unable to work has been intended to weaken the climax of his denials, but it has not allowed the peasant philosophy that when the "old man," as they call him, dies they no longer have a friend at court, no reason for confidence in the government. Others, including the Mensheviks and part of the Red army, may be lulled by the protracted discussion of this gigantic figure. The dictators who knew how to win the affection of the non-Communist peasants are not the peasants. The dictators fear of Lenin's death.

FLYERS SEEN OVER ST. LOUIS

Lieuts. MacReady and Kelly Get Off to Good Start on Trip From New York to San Diego

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
ST. LOUIS, May 2.—Maintaining a speed of approximately 189 miles an hour, the T-2, a giant Army monoplane, tonight was speeding toward the snow-capped Sierra Nevada. Taking off from Roosevelt Field at Hempstead, N. Y., this afternoon, the plane passed over St. Louis at 9:15 p.m. tonight on a transcontinental nonstop flight to San Diego. The aviators expected to make the trip within thirty-two hours.

PARM MESQUITE RIVER

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
ATLANTON (Kan.) May 2.—A powerful airplane, traveling at a high rate of speed, crossed the Missouri River three miles south of here at 11:05 o'clock tonight. Ballroom employees who had been keeping a careful watch, believe it to be the T-2.

AWAITED AT SAN DIEGO

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SAN DIEGO, May 2.—Maj. Henry H. Arnold, commander at Roosevelt Field at North Island, completed arrangements today to facilitate the landing of Lieut. MacReady and Kelly if they complete their transcontinental trip tomorrow. Flood lights have been placed at points along the field to illuminate it in case a landing after dark is necessary.

NARROW ESCAPE AT START

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
HEMPSTEAD (N. Y.) May 2.—Lieut. John A. MacReady and Oakley G. Kelly took off from Roosevelt Field at 1:13 p.m. today. Spectators at the take-off had a moment of horrified suspense when it appeared that the heavily-loaded ship could not rise in time.

TERMS INSULTING

"We consider the figure mentioned, 25,000,000,000 gold marks, ridiculous, also the manner in which Germany expects to raise the loan and the fact that Berlin intends to continue its passive resistance is insulting."

SHYNS AT LEAGUE

It was definitely decided today that the League of Nations covenant will not be written into the Lausanne peace treaty. Ismet informed the Allied delegates, that Ankara would not accept having the covenant written into the treaty under any circumstances. As the delegates decided unanimously that they would not insist on including the covenant in the treaty. The idea of the League joining the League in the future in connection with a new straits regime is an open question now, according to Ismet. The Turks will accept the straits regime, but they are not at all anxious about League participation. The Turkish delegates reports that sentiment against the League is growing constantly at Ankara.

ALHAMBRA

Where Every House is a Home

CHILDREN are the alpha of the home. It's omega is the routine of duties administering to their growth and happiness. The home is the foundation upon which our social order was built. As an expanding commercialism has, one by one, acquired the sacred tasks of the household, it has deprived the home of its charter, driven the housewife into the marts of trade, and now threatens to crumble the social order conceived as the framework of our national life.

The houses of our forefathers were built by men of strength and honor, for posterity. The homes of our forefathers were industrial institutions mellowed by the loving duties of the housewife. Here affection found its expression in daily tasks and the home found its excuse in useful work.

The strength of the City of Alhambra lies in its homes. Over 90 per cent of the houses in Alhambra are owned by the people who live in them. A room sign is almost unknown, and today, a city of 20,000, Alhambra has no transient hotel. These are facts that lie at the very foundations of its unprecedented growth and its progress in matters of community welfare.

Far-reaching benefits to every resident, and particularly to the children, are easy to trace to a home-owning populace.

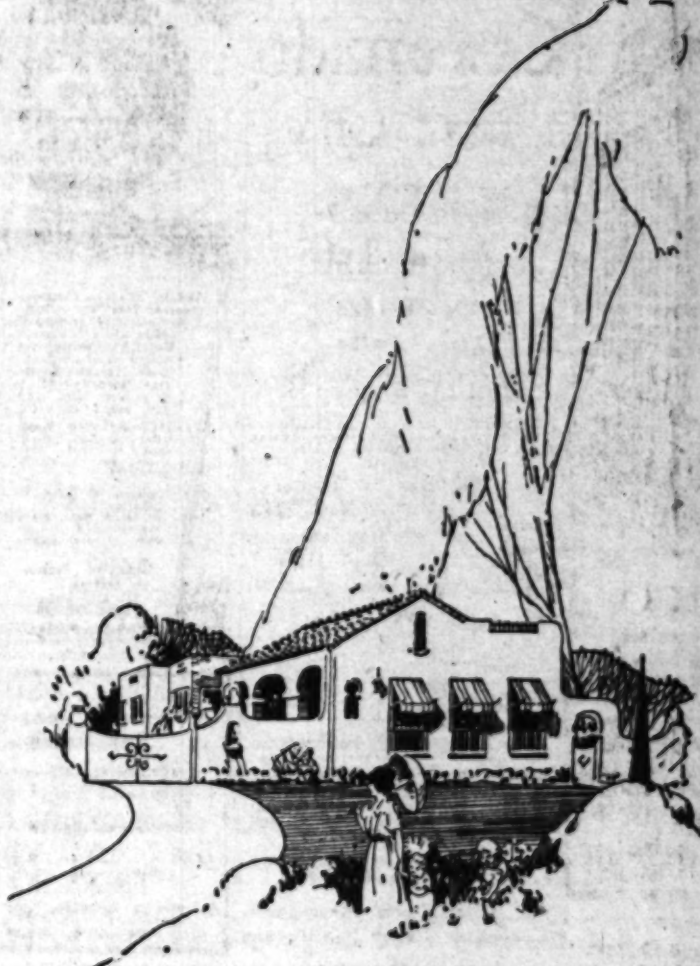

Southern California, outside of the Bronx, New York, which is principally a district of better class residences, has the lowest child death-rate of any section of the country. In Southern California, Alhambra stands second in the list of low mortality for children.

More has probably been done by the city itself for the children of Alhambra than in any other city of its size in the world. The City has financed, built, and now manages a recreation park that is the envy of neighboring cities. Alhambra, through the work of the Parent Teacher's Association, is the only city on record to allot moneys for summer recreation work. Alhambra has pioneered in the establishment of her Health Center to minister to the welfare of the citizens.

The effect of these varied ministrations has become more and more marked as Alhambra's youth have worked their way to supremacy in the various forensic and athletic contests of their inter-city school life.

Alhambra's future is solidly built upon the rock of a home-owning and home-loving populace. Come and share it with us.

The Architectural Committee is at the service of Home Builders. Address the Committee at the Chamber of Commerce, Alhambra, California

Foreign OfficeLike Problems Raised Over
French Complaints

LONDON, May 2.—The closest attention is being given by the Foreign Office to Washington's request for co-operation in restricting booze running toward America, and all possible precedents are being examined in the hope of finding some justification for interfering in peacetime with legitimate trade operations of British merchantmen.

Practically the same problems have been raised by the French, who are complaining bitterly of what they call the British support of Germany through the sale of British coal to Germany, by which the German industry is able to maintain itself despite the loss of the Ruhr. This coal is paid for from German deposits of gold in the Bank of England.

GOVERNMENT POWERLESS

The British government, however, is unable to see its way in peace time to prevent British coal owners from selling goods to Germany and under the Banking Act it would be illegal to interfere except in time of war, with the

Redlands Chamber Objects to Brilliant Spot to be Erected by Shell Oil Station

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

REDLANDS, May 2.—The Shell Oil Company is to be asked to depart from its usual brilliant array for oil stations in the decoration of the new station in Redlands. For it is in the center of the business section of the city and Redlands people do not want the red and yellow that denote most of these stations.

Secretary A. E. Isham of the Chamber of Commerce cannot see why all of Redlands' beauties should be dimmed by a Shell oil color riot, so he addressed the following letter to District Manager G. M. Black, of the corporation at San Bernardino, this morning:

"Considerable opposition is developing here to the erection of the filling station of your company, now in course of construction, in anticipation of the employment of the same colors generally used on your stations.

"I wish to say that Redlands holds no antagonism to your company, but there is a very distinct feeling against the use of the ultra-riotous colors which characterize your filling stations. I suggest that you take this matter up with the proper officials and request that a more conservative coloring be used on your station here. Our Redlands people are not superstitious but a characteristic Shell filling station is an eye-lash that does not meet with favor here."

District Manager Black was here yesterday investigating the growing opposition to the oil station coloring, and it is expected he will support Sec. Isham's request.

Bank of England's right to issue notes to anyone who brings gold. It should be understood, of course, that the Bank of England is in no sense a government institution. It is privately owned, and its only connection with the government is that it is the bank which does the government's business.

Attention also is drawn to the similar situation a couple of years ago when Great Britain requested the United States to prevent the sale by its nationals of arms to semicivilized peoples. The State Department then declined to interfere with the legitimate right of American merchants to trade with anybody who had the cash to buy their goods.

Events That Mark Affair;
Senator Walsh Speaker

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) MANILA (P. I.) May 2.—Casualties incident to the celebration of Dewey Day, rounding out a quarter of a century of American sovereignty in the Philippine Islands, exceeded American casualties at the battle of Manila Bay.

Maj. Gregory Holmington, Thirty-first Infantry, may lose the sight of both eyes. He was injured on the practice range at Fort McKinley when the rifle he was firing exploded. Lieut. John H. Antrum was slightly injured in the same accident.

One soldier died of acute alcoholism during the holiday, and two others sustained fractured skulls when the motorcycle on which they were riding struck an automobile, one of the victims dying in a hospital later.

Philippine leaders, including a number of Senators, addressed the Filipino Federation of Labor, which was celebrating the winning of the eight-hour day. One of the features of the celebration was an address by Senator Walsh of Montana at a banquet given in his honor. Senator Walsh declared that the status of the Philippines would eventually be settled to the satisfaction of both Filipinos and Americans.

Saint Ann's snug little kingdom supplies nearly everything for the health, wealth and happiness of her subjects. Neither are these things for a few people only, but for them all.
The material wealth of the realm may be expressed in six words: soil, oil, ocean, harbor, climate and scenery. The soil gives an annual return above $40,000,000, oil over $50,000,000. The value of ocean, climate and scenery cannot be calculated.

The first result of the harbor improvement is a great increase in yachting, but its commercial possibilities are enormous. Industrial opportunities are ideal. Development of industry has commenced. It is a land of riches and romance, but it is faithful and constant in all its production, benefits and pleasures. Prosperity and happiness are stable. Speaking broadly, there are no failures, hard times or dull seasons. The soil flows steadily. With an even climate and irrigation the soil always produces. The enjoyment of climate, ocean, mountains and canyons is unbroken and perpetual.

work, Miss Strickland said, is to develop fully the child's ability to express himself. "The child's business is to play," she said. "Under the proper supervision it becomes constructive play and bridges the gap to actual work. The proper attitude is then developed, the child finds enjoyment in his work."

The kindergarten teachers are Miss Mary Strickland and her assistant, Miss Beatrice Egan, of the McKinley school; M. E. Heinen, Wadsworth, Lowell school; Miss Clara Peterson, Washington, D. C.

YELM IRRIGATION DISTRICT

Serial 6% Coupon Gold Bonds
Due July 1, 1928-1938

This district, located in the heart of the famous Western Washington dairy, poultry and berry raising section, is twenty-six miles south of Tacoma on the main line of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads.

A proven agricultural section with ready markets and transportation—over 80% under cultivation, with land values averaging $200 per acre and an irrigation debt of only $34.

The gravity irrigation system has been completed for many years—annual operation and maintenance charges are probably as low as in any irrigation district.

Annual crop yields average many times the annual operation, maintenance, bond interest, and bond redemption costs.

These bonds are one of the most attractive Northwestern irrigation securities we have had an opportunity to offer.

A circular giving detailed information and photographic views of the district will be mailed on request.

Prices Are Irregular

NEW YORK, May 2.—Price

movements were decidedly irregular and confined to narrow limits in today's relatively dull trading in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange. Most of the foreign bonds were somewhat lower in sympathy with lower exchange rates. Mexican bonds, however, advanced fractionally, the 5s touching former high at 55 3-4.

United States government bonds were in better demand, most of the issues advancing from 1-12 to 6-32 of a point. The tax exempt 3 1-2s and Victory 4 3-4s were unchanged.

Within a narrow range, fluctuating

1-2 by Denver and Rio Grande standing change being the only outside noted. Lorrillard 5s were up

1-8 and Santa Clara Sugar 4 1-2s registered by Illinois Steel 4 1-2s

Eastern Cuba Sugar 7 1-2s. Cuba

BAD WEATHER HELPS
COTTON FUTURE MART

(REUTERS DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, May 2.—Cotton futures closed around the high, 24 to 45 points net higher.

The market displayed a firm understand from the start, although opening irregularly under last night's closing levels. Local operators, Liverpool and the South sold at intervals and the trade was a good buyer. A morning rise of 16 to 27 points net was not entirely maintained but reports of bad weather in the eastern and central portions of the belt caused uneasiness on the part of recent bear traders in the early afternoon and the market rallied sharply.

The continued to move higher during the final hour and near the close there was a spurt of fresh buying.

Spot was steady, 45 points advance, 27.55 for middling upland.

LONDON WOMAN
IN COURT PLEAClub Members at Eureka Are Urged to Back HardingMiss Cryan Sees Tribunal as Bar Against WarsFederation Sentiment Favors
President's PlanBY MYRA NTE.
"Times" Staff Correspondent
EUREKA, May 1.—Miss Amy Cryan of London, a woman of international reputation, arrived in Eureka last night and will be the chief speaker at the California Federation of Women's Clubs Convention tonight.In an interview concerning her subject of "international relations," Miss Cryan made emphatic her desire to see the United States enter the international court as proposed by President Harding who appealed yesterday to the general Federation of Women's Clubs to back him in his effort to promote in this country a desire for the World Court. Miss Cryan said that there was no better thing women of this convention, who are a part of the General Federation, can do than to encourage the World Court and the entry of the United States.There is a strong sentiment among clubwomen here in favor of the international court. Resolutions to that effect will be discussed today."If you, the clubwomen of America, could get before the public the true facts concerning the World Court you would do more to promote world peace than could be accomplished in any other way."
The fact is that this wonderful court was founded on the supreme court of the United States, differing from it only in the fact that there are no police to enforce decisions of the World Court. All the nations which compose the World Court look with anxiety to the entrance of the United States and they wish your President every success in his understanding."Mr. Harding knows, as we all should know, that the World Court is founded on the basis of the supreme court of your country. England, who helped form the court, has the greatest respect for the United States in their knowledge of international law."
Judge Hessel Moore is the highest authority in the world.
United States can do nothing better for herself or the world than to join. You women can stir the world in helping your President."

FAVOR LOT PURCHASE

Recommended that City Buy Site of Calhoun Park SignalingThe purchase of two lots at $18-400 to commemorate the site of the signing of the Calhoun treaty was recommended by the finance committee yesterday with Commissioner Muesel dissenting. The two lots which constitute the site of the treaty signing, are located near the Cal and Dog Hospital and just opposite Universal City.
"Mr. Muesel stated that he was favorable to the purchase of the tract but not at the stipulated sum.
He favored paying but $6000 for the site."

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions which will be voted upon today include the proposition that club women work toward the goal of getting 75 per cent of registered voters to appear at the polls in all elections since the establishment of a republic, and so

Last year $14,000,000 was ap-while Diaz was President.The Minister of Education, Dr.

promoted public education, taking as his model schools of the United

TO LEARN SPANISH

To promote a better understanding with Mexico by learning Spanish, a society was organized yesterday by Mrs. William P. Cunningham of Los Angeles, who accompanied Senorita Palacios.
Each member pledged herself to study at least a few Spanish sentences to write to the senorita one year from yesterday, which was the anniversary of the birth of the senorita. Mrs. Cunningham, former Deputy Attorney General, San Francisco Supervisor, Mrs. W. B.
Hamilton, vice-president of the San Francisco Women's Vigilant Committee, and many others.This was regarded as a significant step toward more harmonious relations with Mexico. Miss Amy Cryan of London, England, was the other speaker of the evening, her address was, "English Women in Public Life."

BUS PROPOSITIONS

The McAdoo-Hellman motor bus propositions—Nos. 5 and 6—were discussed yesterday by the finance committee. With only one city predicted to be counted, the "No" votes on Proposition No. 5, to establish a bus line to operate in the downtown district, outnumbered the "Yes" votes by more than 400.Proposition No. 6, to give the McAdoo-Hellman interests a twenty-one-year bus franchise was killed, there being more than 12,000
"No" votes than there was favorable ballots.

POLICE SIFT

RIVERSIDE

Note Left by John Kromer

Blames Hollywood Man

for Troubles

(REUTERS DISPATCH.)

RIVERSIDE, May 2.—Police today are investigating the death of John Kromer, 33 years of age, whose body was found on the southern bank of Palmdale Lake yesterday afternoon. Coroner
C. S. Dickens, who asserted that Kromer came to his death as a result of a bullet wound in the head, probably will hold an inquest tomorrow morning when relatives of the dead man from Los Angeles arrive here.Police expressed the opinion that Kromer may have committed suicide Monday evening. The body was discovered by a boy who was walking along the river to opposite the beach house. The position of the body indicated that the result of a 25-caliber automatic bullet, jammed when Kromer pulled the trigger, Kromer was found lying in his back with his hands folded across his breast.In a note found in Kromer's pocket he blamed one John Black of Hollywood for his troubles, which police believe led up to his killing himself. The note requested that Kromer's body be buried in Wood Cemetery at Union town, O.In addition to the note a check for $500 drawn on the Citizens' Bank of Corona and made payable to Claude Black, was found.
It bore Kromer's signature and was dated the 1st inst. John Black, it is understood, is a cousin of the man with whom Kromer has been living at 135 North Daily street, Los Angeles.Kromer formerly was employed at the Creamery cement plant and Kromer's reason for coming to Riverside is believed to have been ill health.John R. Black, a real estate dealer, with office at 5174 Santa Monica Boulevard, is said to be the person referred to in Kromer's note. He predicted that Kromer would die last night. Claude Black, cousin of John R. Black, and with whom Kromer lived, said that he knew of no trouble Kromer may have had with John Black, or any other person, and expressed surprise when he was informed that his cousin had been mentioned in the suicide note.

PRESIDENTIAL YEAR
The business world will be looking for a reason for slowing down as prices continue to advance, and the spending and buying campaign which now possesses the public.

The Presidential year 1924 will probably be the year of our present world expansion. For the office of President, among others, Henry Ford is already in the ring. Just because many people will look upon his candidacy as a joke he is liable to cause a good many surprises. It is reported that he favors a soldiers' home and will meet it by running the government printing press—this is, by testing unlimited amounts of paper money. The financial record of neither Germany nor Russia or the American colonies during the revolution or our two governments during the Civil War will be left on no impression on his mind. If every person who owned a Ford feels gratified enough to cast a vote for Ford other candidates will enter the light under a fearful handicap.

If the press dispatches are to be believed, President Harding is pursuing a vacillating course regarding his candidacy. If he has made up his mind that he wants the office, why in the name of Sam Hill doesn't he come out and say so and then stand upon his record of achievements already accomplished?

There never was a time when the country needed a President who knows his own mind and who has courage to meet issues that arise, who is against radicalism and for the Constitution of our fathers—more than at the present moment. The country at large is divided into three classes, viz: radicals, sentimentalists with radio leading—people who haven't seen enough to know that they are playing with fire—and conservatives.

The radicals and sentimentalists are in the numerical minority, but they are organized, loud-mouthed, arrogant demagogues and they have the faculty of attracting the demagogic masses. The conservatives are in the numerical majority, unorganized, many of them leading soft lives, most of them neglectful of their civic and political obligations and some of them crooked enough to play to the galleries for personal advancement.

From such an aggregation, and by such an aggregation, the next President is to be chosen. No living man can, at the present moment, predict the outcome.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA
The last vestige of sympathy for Russia was destroyed when the Soviet authorities murdered the Russian Catholic Vicar-General, Reverend Father Butchkevitch, and imprisoned a Catholic archbishop.

The moral sense of the civilized world was outraged by this most infamous act. With the death or permanent disability of the archbishop, it is possible that some sort of arrangement for better conditions, in happy Russia, may be inaugurated. Incidentally, much blood will be shed before Russia is regenerated.

History, too, frequently repeats itself. The leaders of the French Revolution denounced God, scoffed at religion and persecuted the churches. All of these who were not assassinated were guillotined within a few short years of their temporary triumph. Undoubtedly the Soviet leaders, who are a most hateful comparison with the immense population of Russia, will meet the same fate. No one will mourn their taking off, no matter how violent their deaths may be.

STATE GOVERNMENT
How refreshing is the conduct, bearing and character of our Governor, Friend W. Richardson, compared with the pulchritudinous, mendacious, cowardly, extravagant, hypocritical and swaggering antics of his immediate predecessor in office. "Don't let them fool you," said Stephens in his speech during last year's campaign. "The people do not get one cent of State taxes. They are paid by the corporations." "It is a self-evident fact," says Richardson, "that every dollar of State taxes paid by the corporations is paid by the people of the State of California." Every demagogue has his day and then oblivion.

The next one to get the graft will be Hiram Johnson. Twice the voters of Southern California have repudiated him. The vote of the section will be so great by the time he seeks further honors in California that it will overcome the labor union centers of San Francisco, Alameda and Sacramento, which are his chief strongholds, especially since his political machine in California has been destroyed.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS
When the wife's away the husband may not get any.
Better a word in season than a lion's lecture out of season.
Speaking of beautifiers, what's the matter with soap and water? When you face misfortune it is time to turn your back on discontent.

Money may furnish a home in the suburbs, but it can't always give a girl.
Singing that will put a baby to sleep is apt to make him up and howl in later years.
It is only a matter of time until the fast young man discovers that the race isn't always to the swift. People who try to exchange something for something are almost as numerous as those who try to get something for nothing.—(Chicago News.)

COURT CHARGES

BOND FORGERY

Held Falsified

1000 Declared Forfeited

by Judge

to Go Before Grand

Jury Today

Underlying that at least one of the signatures on a $10,000 bond furnished by Sam Johnson, one of ten arrested yesterday, was a forgery, Judge declared the bond forfeited and ordered the County Jail to await trial regarding the making of the bond.

It was stated by the court, in declaring that the evidence indicated that T. H. Little, a woman, was the forger, that the bond was granted by the court and Johnson was remanded to the County Jail to await trial.

BEFORE GRAND JURY
The case will be taken before grand jury today by Dep. Dist. Atty. Stanford. It was stated, and the bond was actually for the names of T. H. Little and O. A. Stenavade, who the latter had provided bond for, but when his case was taken for arraignment he failed to appear. The court declared the bond forfeited and investigators of the County Jail's office began search for Little. The court ordered an order that a release of the seven who now are held for trial should not be except by the trial court.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED
Hiram, Gilbert, John C. Burns, William, William Burke, W. Johnson and Charles A. Cooper were charged with conspiracy to defraud the State of California. One of the ten accused was taken to Atlanta, Ga., for trial. The other nine were held in the County Jail to await trial.

The defendants, through their attorneys, used for a writ of habeas corpus, asserted that the testimony at the preliminary hearing was sufficient to constitute probable cause for holding them. Hearing on the writ is given today at 10 a. m. The time the defendants will appear.

SPEAKER HITS INSANITY LAW

Victims' Arrest is Deplored
Before Ebell Club

Women's Enthusiasm Stirred
by Revue Program

Hear Talk on Beauties of Los Angeles Parks

BY THE NEOPHYTE

From the tempting coolness of our Los Angeles parks to the solid facts of our insanity laws, a study of social science, and a short glimpse of the Monroe Centennial Exposition to be conducted here next July, and back to the parks again, was the devious course taken by the members of the social science department of the Ebell Club yesterday. It was a bit of a jump, but club women are not club women for nothing. The breezy freshness of a May day did not take from them one particle of their enthusiasm and interest in vital problems of the day.

Dr. Edward H. Williams, authority on insanity and brother of Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers, club woman and author, spoke of the inadequacy of our present insanity laws.

"Our system of handling the insane is little short of barbarous," said Dr. Williams. "Here an insane person is treated as a criminal rather than a sick man. He is locked up and tried by a judge. What justice is there in a person who is sick being arrested for being sick?"

In other States, the doctor said, an examination is conducted quietly without the person knowing it, and he is under examination in a way which does not disturb or annoy him.

Bringing with him diagrams and pictures, W. L. Halverson of the American Historical Exposition and Motion-Picture Revue which is to be given at Exposition Park in July, roused the enthusiasm of all present by tempting descriptions of night balls, splendid programs, bathing beauties and sundry other events. He wasn't quite sure just which one of the programs would attract the club women, so he named them all. It was most apparent that the thought of a ball and a 1 o'clock breakfast aroused just as much enthusiasm as the programs planned to explain the eclipses of the sun which will take place at this time.

To those unversed in the study of social science the talk by Dr. Williams, of the University of Southern California, was exceedingly instructive and interesting, while those to whom it is an open field undoubtedly found it a new way. Probably the two most interesting statements Dr. Williams made were: "Intelligence, unless it is devoted to good, is a distinct detriment, for it is inclined to tend toward evil; and viewed from any angle you will find the final interpretation of life must be spiritual."

Before the luncheon talks Mrs. Francis Nelson McCann, president of the Park Commission, exhibited intimate little glimpses of our Los Angeles parks, showing many spots which are beautiful. Mrs. McCann spoke especially of the Memory Garden at Brand Park, in front of the San Fernando Mission, which contains plants from all the missions of California.

"It contains not only the memories of the missions, but there is room within it for each one of you to enjoy your own memories as you look at its beauties," was the attractive way in which Mrs. McCann invited all to visit this unusual garden park.

Walpole's Glimpse of Hesperus. A chance to see, through the memories of Hugh Walpole, our own lives and memories was the unusual opportunity given to those who heard the noted English author Tuesday evening at the Hollywood Woman's Club. Mr. Walpole most generously went down deep and dug up great handfuls of his own early experiences with books, and showed the effect on each growing personality of the books read in childhood and in early manhood and womanhood.

It was evident all through the talk that the Hugh Walpole of his many novels, was the real Walpole, for his words vibrated with the thoughts of his books. The saying which is the "kernel" of his work, "It is not life that matters, but the courage you bring to it," ran like a thread through the talk.

Mr. Walpole's talk, it gave his listeners that warm glow of friendship for the personal Mr. Walpole which so many feel for his written thoughts.

"Things written between covers can change one's whole life," he said.

"Whatever your creative thought was at the age of 15 can readily be traced to the books you read at that time," Mr. Walpole then went on to tell from his own experience the moment in which he grew up. It was after falling in a scholarship examination for Cambridge, he picked up the book, "Marius the Epicurean," and discovered for himself that "nothing mattered as long as I was honest with myself."

No Lumps. Remove the powdered sugar from the bag as soon as it arrives and place it in a tightly covered glass jar, such as mason jar. You will find no lumps when you wish to use it.

Three Feet. As spring approaches the old lament of aching feet commences. Buy two cheap rubber soles and insert one in each stocking under the arch of the foot. You will be delighted with the relief they give, for and so bitter against spinners. What can they say to us in reply? Nothing whatever, except to admit that they are jealous of the care-free women who have escaped the depths, the pitfalls and the miseries in which, according to them, the married spend their lives.

If that is not a logical proof of my opening statement I don't know what is.

THE TRUE SITUATION. Having admitted that, let's give the dramatists and the novelists a good example by looking squarely at both sides of the question—which they seem unable to do. We being reasonable and fair-minded can do it, and we will. Then we'll see where it leads us.

Let us look around the circle of our mutual friends. Let us select a dozen average couples and bring them into the foreground for inspection. There are ideally happy couples among them? There may be, of course. For remember, we are not starting out with the assumption of the average novelist and dramatist that the whole institution is wrong. We're after the facts.

So we dispassionately consider the case of the As. They seem a happy couple—perhaps almost an ideally happy couple. They are devoted, sympathetic, companionable. But—they have no children. One knows, therefore, that they cannot be perfectly happy. Their lack of parenthood is the skeleton in their closet.

We turn to the Bs. Wretched, wrangling all the time! We consider the Cs. They love each other, but they are the unluckiest couple we know. C has fallen in business three times and can't get started again. He's industrious, ambitious, but unfortunately, so is Mrs. C. Matters simply won't go right with the Cs. The Ds have their two children during an epidemic of infantile paralysis. The Es—a charming couple—have nothing but operations and illness and doctors' bills in their family life. The oldest son of the Fs married at nineteen a girl unsuited to him in every way.

And so it goes. Trouble, trouble adorns the drama and in more the countless one has mentally selected the happiest.

THE CARE-FREE SPINSTER. Now look among the spinners. The first thing one notices is their freedom from industry. They are lonely? If they are they don't show it much in real life, though in the drama and in fiction they are usually chewing up the wall paper in their spasms of loneliness for love. In real life they seem to get along very comfortably. They have plenty of companionship, their friends, women friends, little nieces and nephews and child friends they can take the circus and other diversions such as they please. They have their own apartments, or suites, or hotels. Looking at them calmly, they seem to have made of life a pleasure of domestic life with troubles left out.

And that brings us right straight to these tragedy, which is a tragedy almost entirely overlooked by most of the dramatists and novelists.

Their tragedy is that they have no tragedy. They have no heartache. They are not really living. No one is living who does not know what it is to pass from the earthly realm to the other place and back again. No one living who is not loving and being loved and enjoying and married and going through the whole lot of tricks we call life.

Vicariously, of course, the spinners are living. They are willing to let them into their own troubles, but that sort of thing isn't real experience. The real experience is the tug at the heartstrings caused by the pull of one's own—not by the pull of outsiders.

The real experience is the tug at the heartstrings caused by the pull of one's own—not by the pull of outsiders.

Thus, we see, most dramatists and novelists are blind, not as to the real situation of the spinster, but also to the real situation of the wife. Whether she is happy or unhappy, the wife and mother is at least living. The spinster, on the other hand, however care-free and independent she may be, is merely going through the motions of life—and in her heart she knows it!

Choose your pictures carefully. Better have large wall spaces adorned with a few choice pictures of so-called art that are poorly conceived and badly executed, than to have a room full of faded and faded pictures, and we have an unfortunate way of clinging to things merely because they have been in our possession. Take your time, pictures should never be decided upon hurriedly.

HULLING STRAWBERRIES. If the huller is in the wrong place at the right time and seen to be found, a sharp-pointed huller will prove a satisfactory substitute.

Can You Finish This Picture? Complete the drawing by tracing from figure one to two and so on to the end. Then use your crayons or water colors and see how nicely you can color it.

If you ask for an article, Reader: You say dandruff comes in patches on your little girl's scalp and there are some red spots also. It may be possible that it is ringworm. That's fairly common in children. Ringworm is due to a microscopic fungus growth, and you must have to use something that would kill off the parasite.

The hair on the spot should be cut short, or even pulled out, and for about one-quarter of an inch around them. The parasite burrows deep down into the hair follicles; that is the reason it is so difficult to cure.

There are many things used in the treatment of ringworm. Among them are sulphur ointment, plain iodine, salicylic acid ointment, and mercurial ointment. Jackson advises iodine ointment made of rubbing a drachm (about a teaspoonful) of the crystals of iodine in one ounce of goose grease. This has to be rubbed every day, washing them well before applying each time.

Sometimes ringworm is so persistent that X-rays have to be used to kill off the parasite.

Better have large wall spaces adorned with a few choice pictures of so-called art that are poorly conceived and badly executed, than to have a room full of faded and faded pictures, and we have an unfortunate way of clinging to things merely because they have been in our possession. Take your time, pictures should never be decided upon hurriedly.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me, in care of this paper, about eight o'clock, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way.

Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask me will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest, I don't forget to inclose the same. If you ask for an article, Reader: You say dandruff comes in patches on your little girl's scalp and there are some red spots also. It may be possible that it is ringworm. That's fairly common in children. Ringworm is due to a microscopic fungus growth, and you must have to use something that would kill off the parasite.

The hair on the spot should be cut short, or even pulled out, and for about one-quarter of an inch around them. The parasite burrows deep down into the hair follicles; that is the reason it is so difficult to cure.

There are many things used in the treatment of ringworm. Among them are sulphur ointment, plain iodine, salicylic acid ointment, and mercurial ointment. Jackson advises iodine ointment made of rubbing a drachm (about a teaspoonful) of the crystals of iodine in one ounce of goose grease. This has to be rubbed every day, washing them well before applying each time.

Sometimes ringworm is so persistent that X-rays have to be used to kill off the parasite.

Pressing at Home. When pressing clothes at home, wet the pressing cloth in hot water instead of cold, and you will not cool your iron.

A Stitch in Time. If winter underwear, when new, were stitched around each buttonhole, the buttons would not stretch until the garment is worn out.

A Fine Filler. Finely chopped cork mixed with liquid glue is excellent as a filler for holes in linoleum. When it has set hard, rub down with emery paper and paint to match the linoleum.

No Lumps. Remove the powdered sugar from the bag as soon as it arrives and place it in a tightly covered glass jar, such as mason jar. You will find no lumps when you wish to use it.

Three Feet. As spring approaches the old lament of aching feet commences. Buy two cheap rubber soles and insert one in each stocking under the arch of the foot. You will be delighted with the relief they give, for and so bitter against spinners. What can they say to us in reply? Nothing whatever, except to admit that they are jealous of the care-free women who have escaped the depths, the pitfalls and the miseries in which, according to them, the married spend their lives.

If that is not a logical proof of my opening statement I don't know what is.

THE TRUE SITUATION. Having admitted that, let's give the dramatists and the novelists a good example by looking squarely at both sides of the question—which they seem unable to do. We being reasonable and fair-minded can do it, and we will. Then we'll see where it leads us.

Health and Beauty

CORRESPONDENTS

No one else should use the same comb or brush and do not let other children put on the affected child's hat. It may take a long while to kill the parasite off.

Mrs. R. B.: That is splendid that you have lost thirty-seven pounds. You say you do not seem able to lose any more on the 1500 calorie diet. This is not an unusual experience after twenty-five to thirty pounds have been lost. I advise in these cases not to go under 1200 calories a day for the daily intake, but one day a week go on a liquid diet of not over 400 or 500 calories.

You can have anything you like in liquids as long as you don't go over the 400 C. limit. Saim milk, eight ounces, 80 C's; whole milk, twice as much. Fat-free condensed milk, eight ounces, about 15 C's. Orange juice, about eight ounces, 140 C's.

You will lose a half-pound to one pound on this and that is enough for you to be losing weekly now.

If you get lame and have other symptoms you say you do from your exercises you must not exercise so strenuously. Now as to the reason you don't continue to reduce on your 1500 C's. It is possible that you are not counting your calories right. And isn't it possible that you overeat once in a while and make your average over 1500 C's? One meal should reduce on 1500 C's, even after reducing as much as you have. However, you are not having to nourish thirty-seven pounds at fat any more, so naturally you need less than you did before. Make the balance that you want to lose contribute to your energy needs.

Mrs. P.: I am sorry, but I am not able to give personal replies to your questions. As soon as it is possible, I am going to prepare a pamphlet on disorders peculiar to women and I shall notify you in the columns when it is ready so that then you can send for it.

LESSEDNESS

One of today certainly have a grudge against the spider because it is the cause of what they believe to be the end of their world.

There is that most of them are even subject of marriage than they are of the spider. It is all wrong. Most of the written for the purpose of showing and child friends they can take to the circus and other diversions. They have apartments or suites in hotels. Looking at these conditions, they seem to have most of the pleasures of domestic life with the troubles left out.

And that brings us right straight to their tragedy, which is a tragedy almost entirely overlooked by most of the dramatists and novelists.

Their tragedy is that they have no tragedy. They have no heights, no depths. They are not really living. No one is living who does not know what it is to pain frequently from heaven to the other place and back again. No one is living who is not in the midst of suffering and going through the whole lot of trials we call life.

Vicarious, of course, the spiders have a lot of experience. All their friends are busy to do that into their own troubles. But that sort of thing isn't real experience. The real experience is that of one's own—not by the pull of outsiders.

The real experience is living, suffering, with and for one's own.

Thus, we see, most dramatists and novelists are blind, not only to the real situation of the spider, but also to the real situation of the wife. Whether she is happy or unhappy, the wife and mother is at least living. The spider, on the other hand, is a mere puppet of life—and in her heart she knows it!

LIVING WITH PICTURES

Hard to Get Divorce from Chances to Exercise Care

It is well to remember in choosing pictures that they are to be used with—not for a few days of weeks, but every day in the year. A picture does not bring a feeling of restfulness—if you cannot enter into it, wander along the road to the cottage with its vine-covered door, then it will never become a source of joy and inspiration.

Choose your pictures carefully. Let them have large wall spaces unobscured then littered with examples of so-called art that are merely conceived and badly executed. Those which represent life and which have an unconscious feeling of clinging to things are the ones that will be most useful to our possession. Take your pictures should never be placed upon hurriedly.

Friendly Relations

Relations, of course, are one of the little problems of life. We all have them. And we nearly all have some that we would not ourselves have chosen. On the other hand, there are often ones that we claim with pride, who possibly would not have chosen us.

There is nothing quite so easy as quarreling with relations. Any fool can do it. It takes rather unusual poise and tact, often amounting to genius, to maintain friendly relations with relations.

In all contact with our relations, I believe, reforms until some more we ourselves are always right and they invariably wrong.

The chief trouble with relations is that they always consider they have claims and rights. And they usually believe in enforcement. They usually exact a right of counsel, fearful claims, to advisory privileges. This is by no means peculiar to mothers-in-law. Sisters and brothers, aunts and nephews and nieces, are apt to assume this embarrassing authority over us. And, for that matter, we over them. It is usually quite mutual.

Of course, the real secret, the obvious solution of the difficulty is to always treat our relations like company—and—behave like company when we are entertained by them.

But, like most forms of elegant simplicity, this is quite the most difficult of attainment. That fatal lure of embroidery and leading, that doo-dah and superfluous adornment which tricks us into fatal sartorial errors and disastrous embellishments, is the equivalent of those fancy privileges with which relations insist upon adorning their association with relatives.

We can entertain an unrelated house guest beneath our roof for weeks without unpleasant eruption. We can even visit friends in like manner with grace and mutual satisfaction. But when host and guest are related, any such satisfactory deucement is almost impossible. Claims, rights, privileges, butt in at every turn.

Wise as I am in this profitable knowledge myself, I can still catch myself taking unwarranted privileges with relations.

In my calmer, more logical moments I understand and concede perfectly that activity, neither morally nor legally, have I any rights and claims upon my relations. I am even prepared to admit that they are distinct separate independent entities with minds and tastes of their own and that it is like my cheek to want to prove upon them. These reflections, however, usually come in the calm watches of the night, when no relation appears on my horizon and there is no immediate scope for practicing my sweet reasonableness. At other times the spirit is unwilling, but the flesh is weak.

I have, however, personally been fortunate in my relations for the most part. The nearest I live 7000 miles away, so we only see each other in affectionate intervals. These intervals, being brief, have invariably remained affectionate. True, I have married numerous times, but the I am bound to admit their attitude toward me is one of patience, tolerance, hopeful, watchful waiting. They have decided to postpone any drastic reforms until some more propitious future.

In fact, introspection compels me to admit that I am more of a relation than any of them. I take an abiding interest in their manners, tastes and welfare generally, with fearful advisory zeal, which no friend would ever stand for—which, in fact, I should never dare impose upon an unrelated friend. Why do I do it? I know better. I would not stand for it myself for a moment. I shudder upon the thought of what might have happened to the even tenor of my way if my relations had returned in kind the sort of patronizing criticism I so often spring on them.

Why the dickens can't I mind my own business and leave them to manage their own affairs in their own way? As a matter of fact, they do just that. But they are very polite and patient about it.

Big Demand in Paris for Gland Treatment

In a recent newspaper interview, Dr. Albert Lowenthal of Chicago, consulting physician for the late Pope Leo XIII and world authority on glands of the human body, spoke of the big demand in Paris for the gland treatment of healthy young animals. Dr. Lowenthal lectured to a clinic of 150 doctors and pointed out that the benefits of gland transplantation could be obtained by taking the glands in some dehydrated form, and without submitting to an operation.

The new scientific glandular treatment—Glandogen—is an embodiment of this idea. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, and combines the important elements of the vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Glandogen is obtainable at the Blum-Chambers Drug Stores, 9th and Spring and 8th and Los Angeles; Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway, and Henderson, Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main. THIS LITTLE BABY GIRL

Was Benefited by the Good Her Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

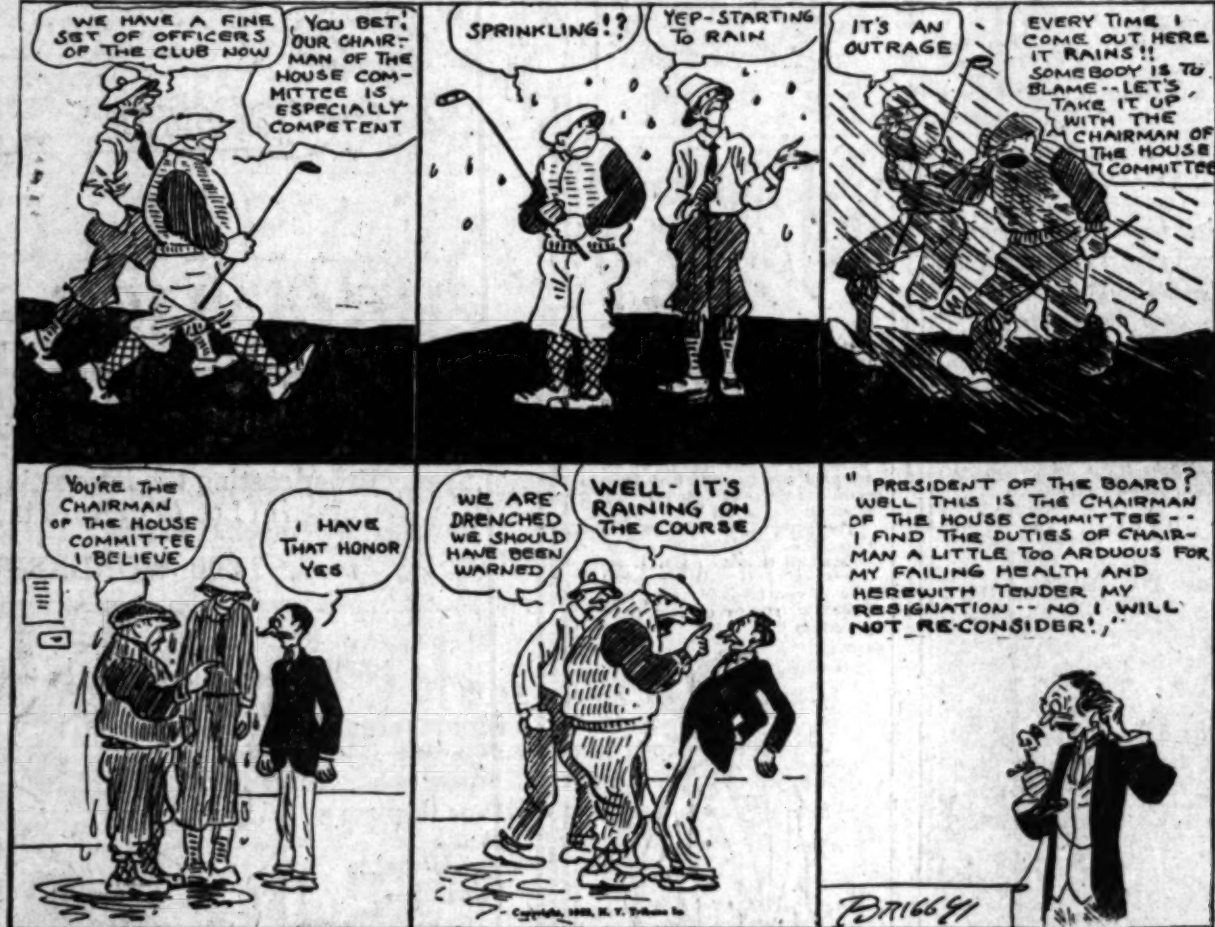

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect it had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed as I had to bring my two boys up on the bottle. I was very nervous and worried, tired all the time and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and kept on with it. I still continue its use and recommend it to my friends. You may publish these facts as a testimonial for your medicine."—Mrs. Wm. Kunkin, 105 Plymouth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it a burden for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs.

Question: Why does powder feel cool to the skin? J. K. L. Answer: A skin specialist says that powder gives a certain amount of protection to the surface, they absorb some moisture, and at the same time give an increased evaporating surface thus being cooling and soothing. Q: Can wood alcohol be used as a preservative in museums? What solution is used for small animals? M. J. L. A: The Smithsonian Institution says that wood alcohol may be used as a preservative, but grain alcohol is preferred. A solution of 75 per cent alcohol is used for small animals. Q: Can a person tell by looking at soil whether it contains too much alkali for growth of crops? F. E. C. A: It is impossible to tell how seriously a soil is affected with alkali by merely looking at it. A chemical analysis must be made. However, the native vegetation is one of the best indications of the presence of alkali. If sagebrush is growing vigorously, probably alkali content is not excessive. Shadscale, grasswood, salt weed and salt grass indicate a dangerous amount.

Q: What is the age limit for entering West Point? R. G. A: The age requirements for appointment to West Point are from seventeen to twenty-two. Q: How many Indians were there in America when was discovered? M. P. H. A: Estimates vary greatly. In 1492, Columbus estimated the Indian population at 19,500. In 1744, Col. Bouquet decided on the figure 4,500. In 1749, Capt. Hutchins thought there were 25,000. In 1779, John Dodge estimated a minimum of 11,000.

Q: Is Newfoundland considered under the same government as the Dominion of Canada? D. G. A: Newfoundland is a separate colony, but is connected with the Canadian government. It is governed by a Governor appointed by the crown and an executive council, also a legislative council not exceeding twenty-four members and an elective house of assembly.

Q: What is rennet? F. L. M. A: Commercial rennet is a white tablet which contains the enzyme rennin found in the stomach of all animals; rennin acts upon milk when the temperature is favorable, causing it to become firm; the commercial rennet tablets are secured at drug stores; a very little bit is required to cause milk to become solid; rennet tablets are used in the production of cheese from milk.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES

Defends Ferrer School LOS ANGELES, April 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am obliged to ask you for some of your space so that I may correct certain statements on your part which, left uncorrected, might injure an institution in which I am deeply interested. I speak of your references to the Ferrer School in your attacks upon Mr. Osnam.

First of all (as probably you are aware) but as your readers may not be Mr. Osnam, I have had any connection with that school and I imagine that his views on certain matters could not have been reconciled with those held by the school authorities. (This with no disrespect to Mr. Osnam.) In speaking of several meetings which you say were attended by Mr. Osnam you refer to "representatives of the Ferrer School (anarchists)." etc. being there. There is some mistake in this matter. The Ferrer School was a child's school; I was a director of it at the date to which you refer; it is evident to me that your information has got muddled somehow—probably in taking for the official action of the school that of some organization holding an evening meeting in its building.

rendered unsuitable the location of the Ferrer School. It was closed and the building sold; but its friends and adherents have by no means abandoned their purpose; and I protest against such references as yours, as likely to be productive of much misunderstanding and possibly of serious loss.

Knowledge is Power LOS ANGELES, May 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] While some of the work done by the W.C.T.U. is commendable, I do not see what is the use of telling how much money is spent for tobacco. Experience demonstrates that drastic measures such as those contemplated by the W.C.T.U. at their convention in Huntington Park in stopping to patronize cafes where tobacco is sold only bring to the intelligent readers of The Times a graphic story. A few years ago, I was urged to buy more of them, as you all know, and when I replied in my effort to do so, the solicitor argued, saying that if I did not smoke cigars I could save my money. Whereupon the proprietor said: "How can I pay for my bonds if I can't sell my wares?" How will the land owner and the grower of the tobacco be affected? The box maker, the tinsmith, the lithographer, the salesman? How will they buy food and clothing? It's the same old story. Blue laws close the wheels of industry and commerce. So much from the monetary point of view.

The only feasible way to suppress the use of the weed introduced by Mr. Walter Raleigh is through education. Mothers should inculcate in their children the evils caused by the use of tobacco (if there are any) school teachers could convey a proper warning on this subject. A law would be a waste of money. For Socrates once said at a banquet: (of course I was not one of the guests) "The only power is thought, the only wealth is wisdom."

Not Was Not In NEW YORK, April 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am pleased to see this letter and let me correct an impression given by a typographical error in my article of April 19th.

My copy read as follows: "My Dear Followers: Please send me money! It hurts too much to send it back. I am not in private practice." As the article came out the "not" was left out, leaving the impression that I was in private practice and still refused to see. Obviously not consistent "not" see. While I am writing I will take this opportunity of thanking my very numerous readers in Los Angeles for their letters showing their confidence in me and their gratitude for help they have received from my articles.

And Dear Editor! I'm sorry I stepped on some religious toes. I'll keep offense from now on, believe me! I don't want to lose my job. I like it. And certain of it's have some kick in them, I've found out.

I will be home this summer. Can't we arrange a big get-together meeting? I mean the Followers, the ones I call my DEAR followers.

DR. LULU HUNT PETERS.

There's a Difference

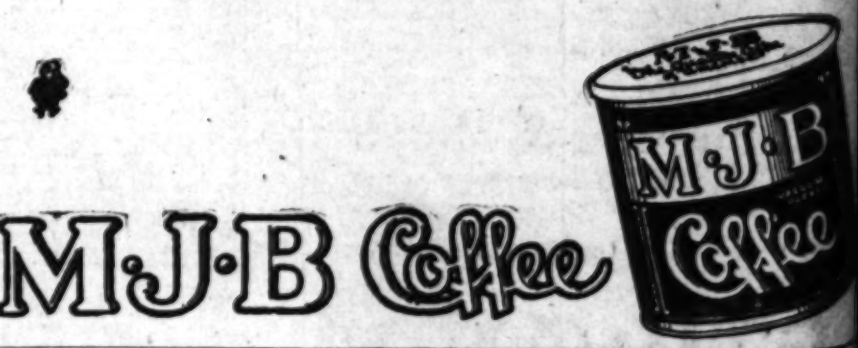

On one street, in one block there is a row of restaurants.

Meal times, you'll notice a crowd streaming into one of these restaurants. The others you'll find almost empty.

Coffee—good coffee—M-J-B Coffee, that's the reason for the crowd you find in the one.

Yes, there's a difference in coffee. A one pound can of M-J-B Coffee in your home shows you what real coffee goodness is.

—and there's a difference in tea, use Tree Tea.

Veteran Congressman of Irrigation Now

Favors Harnessing of and Federal Control

Project Would Affect Million Acres, He

The Colorado River is one of the great waterways of America and its potentialities are being developed by the States through the Lower Colorado River Authority. Congressman Taylor, who has been a champion of the river for many years, is now in an address before the Colorado River Commission.

"Now is the time to have a plan for future generations," he declared. "and it is the duty of the States to see that the river is not overdeveloped. The entire Colorado River is being irrigated, but it is not being developed. At low water all the crops are harvested, but at high tide, however, some of the low water is lost from year to year."

Now is the time to have a plan for future generations, he declared.

Seven States in the lower Colorado River are being irrigated, but it is not being developed.

TAYLOR URGES COLORADO DAM

Veteran Congressman Tells of Irrigation Needs

How Harnessing of River and Federal Control

Project Would Affect Five Million Acres, He Says

The Colorado River is the Nile of America and its potential value to the States through which it flows is beyond computation. Congressman Edward T. Taylor, veteran representative of Colorado in the lower house, declared yesterday in an address before the City of Los Angeles that the time to harness the river for future generations is now. "The States through which it flows," he declared, "and it is up to them to decide whether they will harness it in its basin to the benefit of the entire Colorado basin or whether they will let it flow on and on, doing no good and causing no harm."

At low water all the capacity of the river is now appropriated. At high tide, however, it is forty feet above the low water flow and from year to year it varies from nine to twenty-seven million acres feet.

"We must stabilize this water and use it. Colorado feels that if California appropriates all it wants of this water, Colorado can never get its due. Colorado is a new State and it may be some time before we are ready to use what we think is our share. But we have signed the Colorado pact and we believe you will play the same fair."

"The power question brings with it separate difficulties. The fly in the ointment seems to be the distribution and control of any power that may be generated. It is perfectly clear that we must have a six-foot dam, and that in order to get it Congress must authorize perhaps $100,000,000. Now how are we going to get the money? We are in debt $23,000,000,000 and under our new budget there will be a deficit this year. There are thousands of demands upon the treasury and only one in a thousand can be taken care of. The seven States of the valley have only thirty-seven Congressmen, and California is 3000 miles from Washington."

"All of this means that before the Colorado project can be put through it must have the approval of President Harding and Gen. Lord, director of the Bureau of Budget. The executive branch of the government must be persuaded, and since the Republican party is the responsible agency in Washington, a word from the President will be a great service. Since the dam will be a great achievement, let us call it 'The Harding Dam.'"

"Do not wait until Congress meets for the budget will be prepared before that time. Go after the dam now."

"The Colorado River dam should be owned and controlled for all time by the Federal government. No private company should be in on it. We must not listen to the seductive offers of private concerns. There seems to be no difference of opinion on this point except in Southern California. See that your own representatives are right on this question, and I believe the dam can be built."

MERCHANT IDENTIFIES PRISONER AS ROBBER

Positive Identification of W. B. Ward, alias Chester O. Harrison, as one of the two bandits who held him up Saturday in his grocery store at 2150 South Hoover street was made yesterday by P. H. Cayot, proprietor of the store, police announced. The suspect is believed to be one of the two bandits who held up the Peris Cafe on South Los Angeles street about two weeks ago and obtained $70.

Ward was arrested several days ago by Detective Lieutenants White and Adams when he is said to have attempted to cash a check said to have been taken from Mr. Cayot.

MacKEEVER ART EXHIBIT OPEN TODAY

Illuminated and Painted Curtains Excel Bait in Appearance

An exhibit of illuminated and painted curtains done after the old Indian method by I. E. J. MacKeever opens today at the Ebell Club, and will continue for a month. The similarity of Mr. MacKeever's work to that of the artist who painted the curtains used by the common fact that dyes and wax are used to obtain effects in each, for the method used by the artist produces finer results than the Indian method.

Mr. MacKeever's painted curtains are becoming as well known in California as in the East, and his exhibit will acquaint local art lovers with the unique beauties of this particular form of decoration. Two of the three exhibits of this branch of art, which was originated in Egypt and Persia, and perfected in India.

On the 18th inst., the Comic Masque Club presents Mr. MacKeever's exhibition of painted curtains. The exhibit will be held at the Auditorium for the benefit of Victory Post, American Legion.

STOLEN CAR RESCUED BY PLUCKY GIRL

Gets into Parked Auto and Refuses to Leave Until Police Arrive

The spunk of Anna Platt, 15-year-old sister of Harry Platt, 5044 Sunset Boulevard, in "sitting tight" in an automobile stolen from her brother and refusing to budge until police arrived and arrested Milton Reid and Mrs. Irene Engel, who it was asserted attempted to drive away in the car, was brought again into prominence yesterday when Justice Scott held Reid to answer a charge of grand larceny.

According to testimony before Justice Scott, Miss Platt, while walking on North Olive street several days ago, noticed a car parked at the curb which looked like the machine stolen from her brother. She decided that she would sit in the car until someone came and told her in that way she would find the driver.

After a time, it was testified, Reid came, accompanied by Mrs. Engel. They both attempted to persuade Miss Platt to leave. She refused and held them there until the arrival of police. Mrs. Engel was later released.

Reid is said to be a brother of Clarence (Tougher) Reid, who is in jail on a charge of killing J. S. Weingarten in an attempted hold-up of a truck factory on South Main street two months ago. Police said "Tougher" and Red McMillen went into the factory for the purpose of robbing Weingarten and that when he resisted they shot him. McMillen escaped and has evaded arrest.

LAY PLAN TO WATER ORCHARDS

Desert Ranchers Hope to Impound Moisture in Big Rock Creek

Desert land entrymen, living between Palmdale and Lemoore, in what is known as the Little Rock country, are organizing to impound the waters of Big Rock Creek, to insure sufficient water for the irrigation of the pear orchards that are springing up in all parts of that section. It is proposed to build a dam for the conservation of the water, and to that end Congressional aid will be sought.

Within the past five years, the country has been settled by hundreds of families, and the land tends itself splendidly to pear culture.

Some years ago, Job Harrison organized a Socialist colony at Lemoore, but it was a failure. Now a more practical plan has been evolved for the use of the waters of Big Rock Creek, and the ranchers believe that they will be successful in their efforts to make homes in that part of the country.

Engineer Given Trip on Record in Fuel-Saving

Because he has saved more fuel during the last year than any one of thirty-six other passenger engineers, William E. (Bill) Steorner, engineer and old-timer in the service of the Southern Pacific Company, has been chosen to represent his district in the National Convention of Fuel Conservation to be held in Cleveland during the latter part of this month. H. F. Edwards, fireman, has been chosen to accompany him.

The annual competition, in which Steorner ranked first this year, is among engineers of each district and the winner is the one whose record shows that he has made the greatest amount of miles to the gallon of fuel during this time. Steorner has been an employee of the Southern Pacific Company since 1881, is a native son and lives at 2012 South Hoover street. He will leave for Cleveland on the 15th inst.

FRIDAY MORNING

PACIFIC TRIANGLE

REDISTRICTING PLAN BEAT BY OLD G

BY KYLE D. PALMER

SACRAMENTO, May 2. Constitutional reapportionment defeated in the State Assembly today by a vote of 23 to 12. Two exceptions represented Southern California districts to give southern counties the same representation due the California constitution.

HOW THEY VOTED

The vote on a constitutional redistricting plan, contained in Assembly Bill No. 1, introduced by Assemblyman W. H. Davis, was as follows: For the plan, 23; against, 12. To uphold the constitution, 23; to nullify the constitution, 12.

Assemblyman Baker, changed his vote from yes to no in order to demand reconsideration of the bill. He is probably the only member of the Legislature who has done this.

Several hours were taken to explain why they planned to vote their oaths of office and were reapportionment provisions of the constitution.

CALLS ARGUMENT MORA

Despite long and specious arguments, however, the issue remains as emphasized by Assemblyman Christian of Alameda county.

Against British labor's new stand. Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, president of the Board of Trade, denounces labor leader's motion in Parliament for the gradual replacement of capitalism by an industrial and social system built on public ownership.

Zion City boss must pay 1 cent damages. Wilbur Glenn Voliva (left), who lost damage suit brought by Rev. Thomas Nelson (right). The trouble arose when Mr. Nelson started an opposition church in Zion City.

Speaking of car service—Benzol is used to operate this new car, which was recently placed in service at Kiel, Germany. Airplane engines give it a high rate of speed.

A study in oostmeal and scarlet. Mrs. John Fortescue, London style authority, offers this modified Tut-Ankh-Amen afternoon gown in oostmeal Kasha cloth embroidered in scarlet.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan (left), formerly of California, and Miss Cecil Little, English golf expert, at the Cannes (France) tennis tourney.

Has the curse of the Pharaohs fallen on him, too? Howard Carter of Tut-Ankh-Amen tomb fame was taken ill shortly following the death of Lord Carnarvon. The superstitions say that both fell under the malign spell of elementals placed in the tomb to guard the soul of the dead Pharaoh.
